DAUGHERTY WILL NOT TESTIFY IN SENATE INQUIRY

Attorney Says Client Will Not Accept Invitation To Appear

UNFAIRNESS CHARGED

Brookhart Declares He Will Reply to Reflections on Committee

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, June 4.—Former Attorney General Daugherty today told the senate committee which has had his official conduct under investigation for nearly four months, that he would neither testify as a witness nor be represented further by counsel in its proceedings.

The committee had asked the former attorney general to take the witness stand on Friday as the last witness before a preliminary report is submitted to the senate. No formal subpoena had been issued for him, and committee members have indicated that they would take no step to compel his appearance.

Fall Howland, attorney for Mr. Daugherty, read the committee a statement by his client, declaring that "certain members of the committee" had made a desperate attempt to "blacken" his reputation and denying that he had "profited in any illegal, corrupt or unethical way" from his tenure of office.

Mr. Daugherty's statement also declared that a court in Ohio, in the litigation between the committee and M. S. Daugherty, had held the committee to be engaged in "an illegal proceeding." He therefore gave notice that his lawyers would be withdrawn.

Chairman Brookhart declared the statement was a "reflection" on the committee, and said that he intended to reply before letting matters go further.

"We have proved the existence of a criminal conspiracy in Mr. Daugherty's household," Senator Brookhart said. "We have proved that the tax returns of Mr. Daugherty when he took office showed he had no money but that before he left office he had $75,000 on deposit in his brother's bank."

The chairman added that under the circumstances he would ask the committee to proceed with its plan of making a partial report and the adjourning "for some time." It is a part of the plan to resume its sessions at some later date in the summer.

Interested Listeners Hear Discourse of Christian Evangelist

Another large audience at the Church of Christ heard Evangelist Wilkerson discuss the subject, "Heart-felt Religion and the Change of Heart."

In part the speaker said: "The word 'heart' occurs about seven hundred fifty times in the Bible. The word 'religion' is a new Testament word and is found five times therein. The phrases 'heart-felt religion' is not in the Bible but the subject is discussed first 'heart,' secondly, 'feelings' and thirdly, 'religion.'"

"The office work of the Bible heart is clearly seen in that we are said to think, reason, understand, believe, love, sorrow, desire, obey from and serve God in and with the heart."

"Feelings are of two kinds, sense of touch and the emotions. In religion, in becoming a Christian our feelings our emotions are affected. One who becomes a Christian has a right to rejoice with joy unspeakable and full of glory."

"Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this; to visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction and to keep himself unspotted from the world."

There will be baptizing just after the preaching this evening. Subject, "Safety First."

Murder Case Against A. & M. Student Closes

(By the Associated Press)
STILLWATER, Okla., June 4.—Both the state and defense in the murder trial of I. Earl Nutter, former student in the Oklahoma A. and M. college, rested at noon today and the case is expected to be in the hands of the jury by evening.

The morning session of court was devoted to an effort by the defense to prove that it was impossible to determine who fired a shot in target practice that accidentally killed Mrs. Matilda Hodges, an aged woman. Mrs. Hodges was shot down as she stood in her backyard across an alley from a clubhouse where Nutter and several other students were firing at a target on the side of a barn.

GIANT DIRIGIBLE REACHES SAFETY

Thrilling Flight Through Fog By Shenandoah at Lakehurst

(By the Associated Press)
LAKEHURST, N. J., June 4.—The Shenandoah, giant navy dirigible, broke through a heavy bank of fog this morning and returned to its base almost twenty-four hours after beginning a 100-mile trip over three states during which it crossed the Canadian border at Niagara Falls. During the last few hours of the cruise the dirigible hovered in a dense fog over its home port, guided only by radio messages and sirens on the field. It was nearly three hours after reaching Lakehurst that the Shenandoah was put into its hangar.

Commander Zachary Lansdowne, U. S. N., commander of the ship on this, its first important cruise, since breaking away from its mooring mast early this year, and the only one without Captain Anton Heimen, the German Zeppelin expert, as the director of its flight.

The ship was unaccounted for during an hour and a half early this morning when radio messages were not received from her and the naval station radio operator obtained no answer to his signals.

FIRST STEPS TO LAUNCH PARTY

Organization Known as American Party Will Name National Ticket

(By the Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, O., June 4.—Organizations will be started in all states immediately and an aggressive national campaign carried on by the American party, it was announced today following selection last night of Judge Gilbert O. Nations of Washington as the party's presidential standard-bearer, and additional of a platform dealing with law enforcement, immigration, outlaws of war, and polygamy. Congressman Charles H. Randall of Los Angeles was named as running mate for Judge Nations.

Leaders of the party who were seeking support of the Ku Klux Klan declared that the American party should not be known synonymously as the Ku Klux Klan party but that councils of the "invisible empire" would be needed in the coming campaign and would be given first consideration in all decisions.

Proposals for amalgamation with the prohibition party which meets here tomorrow were declared by Rev. B. E. Prugh of Harrisburg, Penn., chairman of the prohibition party in Pennsylvania, to be premature in an address before the convention last night. However, many delegates who are here for the national prohibition party convention indicate considerable personal enthusiasm toward the proposed amalgamation.

VETERANS OF OLD SOUTH GATHER AT MEMPHIS, TENN.

Warm Welcome For Swarms Of Veterans and Auxiliary Organizations

FOUR THOUSAND ATTEND

Sons and Memorial Organization Hold Preliminary Sessions

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 4.—Joining in a glorious tribute to the sons of the old south, members of the United Confederate Veterans, Sons of Confederate Veterans, and the Southern Confederate Memorial association assembled in mass meeting Tuesday afternoon for the first important preliminary to the convention of the three organizations.

The assembly, which was followed by a similar meeting Tuesday night, was more in the nature of a "get acquainted" gathering, with addresses by General W. B. Halderman, commander of the U. C. V., Colonel McDonald Lee, head of the Sons' organizations, Mrs. A. McD. Wilson, president of the Memorial association, Mrs. Frank D. Harrold, president-general of the U. D. C., and Mayor Howlett Paine, of Memphis.

Each speaker paid tribute to the men who wore the gray, and recalled the associations and events of the Sixties.

Several thousand persons crowded into the auditorium for the general session. The municipal band and a choir made up of the various church choirs of the city rendered a musical program, in which southern hymns and melodies predominated.

Approximately 3,000 veterans had registered Tuesday night with fully 1,000 more expected. Several special trains were due to arrive overnight, bearing veterans and visitors to the reunions.

Headquarters of the S. C. V. announced that not less than 6,000 members of that organization were expected by Wednesday. This figure, with 3,500 or 4,000 veterans, several thousand members of the various Confederate women's organizations and the thousands of visitors reunion officials said, probably would swell the total attendance to 25,000 or 30,000 by Wednesday night.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 4.—Soldiers of the "Old South," warriors in the cause of the Confederacy, formally opened their 34th annual reunion here today with upwards of four thousand of the wearers of the gray on hand to live over the days of the Sixties.

The Sons of Confederate Veterans and the Southern Confederate Memorial association, which held preliminary sessions jointly with veterans yesterday in memory of Jefferson Davis, and last night in exchange of greetings, also actively began their annual meetings today.

A welcome to Tennessee and to Memphis, voiced by Governor Austin Peay and Mayor Rowlett Paine, and the annual address of the commander in chief, General W. B. Halderman of Kentucky, were included in the program for the initial session of the convention.

The first formal session of the Sons' organization and the Memorial Association was devoted largely to exchange of greetings and the presentation of reports of the officers and standing committees.

BEERE IDENTIFIED AS BANK ROBBER

Other Suspects in Arkansas City Case Held For Investigation

(By the Associated Press)
TULSA, June 4.—Elmer Beere, arrested here last night with four other persons suspected of connection with the Arkansas City, Kansas, bank robbery last Friday, was identified this morning as one of the bandits who robbed them by the cashier and a woman clerk of the bank.

The other man arrested, W. J. Elmer, resembles another of the bandits, the bank officials said, but they were unable to identify him. The other suspects held, and who are also believed to have aided in the robbery of a jewelry store at Independence, Kansas, early last week, are the wives of Beere and Elmer, and Elmer's sixteen year-old son, Roy, thought to have been the driver of the bandit car.

Former Physician Of Ada Held Under Bond of $10,000

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 4.—Dr. William E. Boyce, physician and a major in the World War, waived preliminary hearing on white slavery charge before U. S. Commissioner Ernest Chambers Tuesday, and was bound over to the federal grand jury under $10,000 bond.

Dr. Boyce is alleged to have transported a woman from Oklahoma City to Nashville, Tenn.

He is well known in Oklahoma and Texas.

Bertha Borden is held under $1000 bond as a witness in the case.

Boyce was unable to make bond and was returned to city jail.

Chambers declared he put the doctor's bond at the unusually high figure because he was informed by federal officers that "the prisoner was a desperate man."

In the commissioner's court where he pleaded guilty, Boyce attempted, it appeared, to give the semblance of a man not in his right mind. His eyes rolled. His face assumed a blank expression. He answered questions in a rambling manner.

Boyce was arrested last week in the Bristol hotel lobby by City Detectives Luther Bishop and W. V. Brown. He was armed with a revolver.

He reached hastily for the automatic in his side pocket when the officers accosted him, Bishop said. The officer said he had to strike his prisoner.

Downtown Kansas City, the trail's end for countless pilgrims who have trekked to their annual gathering from all parts of North America, seethed with pleasure seekers and a host of funmakers.

The convention throngs milled through the streets, which had the appearance of oriental bazaars, with their decorations and bands of gorgeously uniformed and fezzed sons of Arabia.

The imperial council held its second session today with the expectation that disposal of posts in the imperial divan would be made before the second parade of the convention, scheduled for tonight. The interest lies in the outer part post elections, as the other eleven posts in the imperial divan are filled by succession.

If at the time you filed your return you paid only one-fourth of the amount of tax reported you must pay, on or before June fifteenth, one-half of the amount paid by you when you filed your return. CROWE SAYS CASE AGAINST LEOPOLD AND LOEB STRONG

Grand Jury Will Be Asked To Return Murder Indictments

CONFESSIONS DENIED

Claimed Youths Signed no Admission of Guilt In Case

(By the Associated Press)
CHICAGO, June 4.—Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, millionaires' sons, admitted kidnapers and slayers of Robert Franks, schoolboy son of wealthy Jacob Franks, have signed no confession of guilt, it became known today and the state, which has asked the grand jury for murder indictments must rely on testimony of witnesses who heard their statements.

Double guards have been placed to watch the county jail cells of the pair day and night until they are tried. Fear that either may attempt to carry out previously expressed suicide plans, all food taken to them is rigidly inspected, and all employees have been cautioned to prevent smuggling to them of any means for self destruction. The precautions were taken after a conference of jail officials with state's attorneys when the grand jury completed its first day's inquiry yesterday.

Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney, said he would not serve the indictments against Loeb and Leopold and that every available witness would be called to testify before the grand jury. Seven witnesses went before the jury yesterday and more than a score remained to be heard.

That the defense will be made by the most brilliant attorneys in the country is considered certain by prosecutors because of the reputed $15,000,000 represented by the parents of the youths.

"All the money in the world won't save these boys," however, declared Michael Hughes, chief of detectives. "It is the most nearly complete case we have ever gotten together. Upon the information given solely by Leopold and Loeb we have unearthed too much corroborative evidence involving them to permit them to escape. I am certain they will receive the death penalty."

If at the time you filed your return you paid only one-fourth of the amount of tax reported you must pay, on or before June fifteenth, one-half of the amount paid by you when you filed your return. BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

THY SUN shall no more go down; neither shall thy noon withdraw itself; for the Lord shall be thine everlasting light, and the days of thy mourning shall be ended.—Isaiah 60:20.

MURDERERS FREED

One of the strongest indictments of the modern American jury ever printed appears in an article appearing in a recent popular magazine. The writer points out that the police force of New York city does everything in its power to apprehend murderers in the city, but that in so many cases they either get off with a light sentence or go entirely free.

He points out that last year in the Borough of Manhattan there were 128 murders. Only one paid the death penalty, about one-third of the murderers were not arrested, and all but a few of the 128 were freed entirely. Those who drew sentences averaged only a little more than five years in the penitentiary.

We do not believe the jury system is a failure. The trouble lies in too many technicalities and the long course of justice. It is true some juries are prone to give the accused too much consideration and to the victim too little. At the same time, if more attention were given to arriving at the facts in all cases and less attention to the little details of the indictment and other technicalities, it appears to us justice would be swifter and more certain.

In this connection, it is in line to point out the growing respect for law in this state as a result of the campaign for law enforcement put on by the newspapers and civic bodies of the state and the firm stand of Governor Trapp that the law must be permitted to take its course.

The wholesale pardoning of criminals by Governor Walton came near throwing this state into a condition of anarchy. To restore confidence in the law it was necessary for Governor Trapp to set a firm foot upon pardons and reprieves. The good results are so noticeable that "a wayfaring man, though a fool, can understand."

DEPENDS ON WHO PAYS.

The Tulsa World complains that the Oklahoma delegation to the national Democratic convention which meets in New York, has taken headquarters at the "Commercial Hotel." The fastidious editor of the leading journal of the oil metropolis deprecates the idea of the Democratic delegation being housed at a hotel of so little importance as not to be listed in the hotel registry. Possibly the Democrats who will attend the national convention are less fortunate than their Republican brethren in that they will not have a wealthy oil man to act as angel and pay the bills. The Republicans have constantly selected a millionaire as national committeeman and it is quietly rumored that a part of his duties and as a reward to the faithful, he puts up the money for the hotel bills of the Republican delegates.—Okmulgee Democrat.

When the public begins to clamor for a change it might sometimes do well to recall the fable of the frogs who became obsessed by the same desire. They prayed to Jupiter to send them a king. Jupiter threw a log into their swamp. The log was a very convenient resting spot but not particularly active. The frogs prayed again and a turtle was sent to them. He was so slow and so stupid that they were not yet satisfied. Their third petition brought a hungry stork who devoured his subjects right and left causing them to change their minds about needing a change and to beseech Jupiter to restore matters to what they were in the beginning. They did not know when they were well off.

Heretofore the presidency of France has been largely an ornamental office, the president having little real power. No one gave much thought to the office or the man who filled it. Now, however, the majority of the chamber of deputies has forced the issue by declaring that it will not accept any prime minister named by President Millerand, a condition that will produce a deadlock, since the government cannot function without a cabinet. The question now agitating the nation is whether the president will resign and turn things entirely over to the radicals or hold his ground and fight the issue to a finish.

Scout Executive Harry Miller reports that more than one hundred Scouts in the county have successfully passed a rigid examination on the Life of Christ. We notice also that Bible schools here and there are filled with seekers for information on religion and better ways of living. It is certainly a good omen when young boys and girls give their time to the study of the Bible. If this nation were composed of men and women who go to the Bible for information and inspiration, it would be a much better place in which to live. We should be richer, happier and crime would be unknown.

There will be those who will insist that the two millionaire criminals in Chicago should not be punished. Every reason under the sun will be advanced for their waywardness. They are just criminals, judging from their confession, and are exactly in the position of the New York gangsters who kill for so much per.

Fewer and Better Paid Congressmen

(Farm and Ranch)
Congressman Celler, of New York is advocating "Fewer and better paid congressmen." He suggests a lower House with a maximum of 150 members, each drawing a salary of not less than $10,000 per annum. "The Searchlight on Congress," a Washington publication, agrees with Congressman Celler on the size of the House but offers an amendment fixing the salary of a congressman at $15,000 per annum and the salary of Cabinet members at $25,000.

High rents in Washington and the many demands made upon congressmen and cabinet members and their families makes present salaries inadequate, and when a man is worried about money matters, as a rule, he is not as efficient as he should be. A house with a membership limited to 150 would secure quicker and better results than a house with a membership of twice that number. Undoubtedly, better men would be selected and the business of the government transacted more expeditiously as well as more economically. The same rule would apply to the various state legislatures.

A suggestion to reduce the number of members of the House of Representatives and the number of members of the Legislature always meets with opposition from men who make their living out of politics but it meets the approval of citizens who are interested in the economical conduct of public business. But few will object to paying reasonable compensation for public service if they can feel an assurance that good service will be rendered.

Any movement to reduce our legislative bodies to an economical workable size should be encouraged.

Humorist Writes Road Signs.

(Chickasha Express)

"Bugs" Baer, a well-known newspaper humorist, has written and published a series of "road signs," probably merely intended to entertain. But many of them might be erected with benefit to the safety of traffic.

"Don't run up your mileage with skids," contains a lot of real caution in tabloid form. Don't you think with brakes," will strike a responsive chord in every man who has had near-nervous prostration at the sight of the reckless driver stopping in a hurry. "There are three grades of eggs, but only one grade of crossing and that's dangerous," ought to be pasted in the hats of all those who try to "beat the train" across its right of way.

"The glass in your windshield is the same stuff they put in hospital windows. Which will you look through?" is a very pertinent query, and "Fifteen miles an hour may be a chill, but fifty is fever," is not too medical to be understood.

To towns troubled with too much speeding by tourists, Mr. Baer suggests "Speed limit in this town fifteen miles an hour. One day for every mile over that!" or "We have seven hotels and one jail, take your pick!"

"Don't try to scare locomotives with your horn." "The minute you save may be your last one." "You wouldn't travel on a freight train, so don't try to travel under one," are all good to remember. Mr. Baer intended to be funny, and succeeded; he may not have intended to be serious, but many can take his cleverness seriously with benefit to themselves and the general public.

In other words (Mr. Baer once more), "Accident insurance is a good thing to have without the accident."

All-German Auto Show.

(By the Associated Press)

BERLIN—The German automobile manufacturers have decided to hold a national exhibit this fall, and during the same week it is planned to arrange a race for the grand prix of the Automobile Club of Germany. It is quite likely that this will be the last exclusively German auto exhibit, as in September or October the government's embargo on the importation of cars probably will be lifted.

A resident of Chelsea, England, advertised in a local paper for a "second-hand" grave to hold two or more in some good cemetery.

How Rulers of Tiny San Marino Republic Are Elected to Posts

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Photographs are just reaching this country of the world's quaint inauguration, the investiture of the regents of San Marino.

The tiny republic, oldest state in Europe, has 38 square miles and 13,000 people. It is governed by regents who change every six months. The National Geographic Society quotes a communication from Alice Rohe describing their election and inauguration, as follows:

"On the 15th of September and the 15th of March, at the hour of Ave Maria, the bells of the government palace and the fortress announce the hour of electing the new regents. San Marino floods to the Piazza della Libertà. Within, the council is in session, the regents having been escorted from their home in picturesque cortege to the palace.

Ceremony is Ancient

"The ceremony of closing the new regents is an ancient one. First of all, by extracting names, 12 nominators are chosen. Each of these must name a candidate, one in whom he has full faith and also one who has not for three years held that office. The 12 names are then voted upon by the white and black ball system, the six receiving the highest number of votes being the candidates. These six names are then coupled in three pairs, the arrangement being amicably made by the candidates.

"The cortege then issues from the palace—the regents, in their medieval state costumes, accompanied by attendants in livery bearing torches. Up the steep street to the cathedral, the cortege goes. At the door of the church, the regents are met by the archpriest, who awaits them with holy water and blesses them.

"The regents take their post of honor on the canopied throne beside the high altar. Guards, carabinieri, the entire cortege stand at attention in the long nave. The archpriest offers a prayer to San Marino; then he reads the six names and puts the three couplets in three little silver balls. They are placed in a silver urn, shaken about, and a child is called to draw out one of them. The little one holds it up before the breathless congregation. It is then given to the regents, who open it and read the names. They in turn go to the high altar and give the paper to the priest, who reads aloud the names of the new heads of the government. Instantly the band sounds the national hymn and the cortege with flaming torches winds its way back to the palace. The newly elected regents are officially notified with medieval ceremony.

"The inauguration is the big event of the republic, when the tradespeople, a number of whom are souvenir-sellers, look forward to their chief profits from visitors. The simplicity of life here is such that 20 or 25 strangers are regarded as a great invasion.

"The important occasion is announced the night before by the ringing of the fortress bell. On the morning of the inauguration a series of parades begins. The noble guards, resplendent in be-plumed hats and bold-braided uniforms, preceded by the band, first march to the homes of the regents to escort them to the palace in Via Giosue Carducci, where they clothe themselves in the state garments.

"At ten the gorgeous procession moves through the narrow streets to the government palace. The regents having entered, the populace with all the cortege, stands at attention for the moment when the flag is unfurled from an upper balcony. As the banner, blue and white, with the coat of arms of the republic—the three plumed towers, encircled in a laurel and oak wreath tied with a ribbon bearing the motto 'Libertas'—is raised, the band strikes up the national hymn, a quaint, (unmartial air, founded on an ancient theme or Guido Monaco.

"The spectacular moment which the populace awaits is when they leave the palace to attend mass in the church where lie the relics of the republic's saintly founders. Following mass, at which the regents assist in their official post beside the altar, the retiring regents on the canopied throne, the new ones in a simple pew, the cortege goes back to the palace, where the inauguration ceremony takes place.

"An address by a former regent is always delivered. Then the new regents take the oath of office and the old ones, removing their insignia of power, place their stowing upon them the seals and keys of state. The ex-regents step down from their seats of authority and the new ones take their places. Then the ceremony is over and the cortege accompanies the regents to their homes."

In the Days of Poor Richard

By IRVING BACHELLER

On the post road, beyond Horse Neck in Connecticut, they had a more serious adventure. They had been traveling with a crude map of each main road, showing the location of houses in the settled country where, at night, they could find shelter and hospitality. Owing to the peculiar character of their freight, the committee in Philadelphia had requested them to avoid inns and had caused these maps to be sent to them at post offices on the road indicating the homes of trusted patriots from twenty to thirty miles apart. About six o'clock in the evening of July twentieth, they reached the home of Israel Lockwood, three miles above Horse Neck. They had ridden through a storm which had shaken and smitten the earth with its thunderbolts, some of which had fallen near them. Mr. Lockwood directed them to leave their wagons on a large empty barn floor and asked them to go to supper.

"If you'll bring suthin' out to us, I guess we better stay by her," said Solomon. "She might be nervous."

"Do you have to stay with this stuff all the while?" Lockwood asked.

"Night an' day," said Solomon. "Don't do to let 'er git lonesome. To-day when the lightning was slappin' the ground on both sides o' me, I wanted to hop down an' run off in the bush a mile or so fer to see the kentry, but I jest had to set an' hope that she would hold her temper an' not go to slappin' back."

"She," as Solomon called the two loads, was a most exacting mistress. They never left her alone for a moment. While one was putting away the horses the other was on guard. They slept near her at night.

Israel Lockwood sat down for a visit with them when he brought their food. While they were eating, another terrific thunderstorm arrived. In the midst of it a bolt struck the barn and rent its roof open and set the top of the mow afire. Solomon jumped to the rear wheel of one of the wagons while Jack seized the tongue. In a second it was rolling down the barn bridge and away. The barn had filled with smoke and cinders but these dauntless men rolled out the second wagon.

Rain was falling. Solomon observed a wisp of smoke coming out from under the roof of this wagon. He jumped in and found a live cinder which had burned through the cover and fallen on one of the barrels. It was eating into the wood. Solomon tossed it out in the rain and smothered "the live spot." He examined the barrels and the wagon floor and was satisfied. In speaking of that incident next day he said to Jack:

"If I hadn't 'a' had purty good control o' my legs, I guess they'd 'a' run erway with me. I had to put the whip on 'em to git 'em to step in under that wagon roof—you hear to me."

While Solomon was engaged with this trying duty, Lockwood had led the horses out of the stable below and rescued the harness. A heavy shower was falling. The flames had burst through the roof and in spite of the rain, the structure was soon destroyed. "The wind was favorable and we all stood watching the fire, safe but helpless to do anything for our host," Jack wrote in a letter. "Fortunately there was another house near and I took the horses to its barn for the night. We slept in a woodshed close to the wagons. We slipped out of trouble by being on hand when it started. If we had gone into the house for supper, I'm inclined to think that the British would not have been driven out of Boston."

"We passed many companies of marching riflemen. In front of one of these, the fife and drum corps playing behind him, was a young Tory, who had insulted the company, and was, therefore, made to carry a gray goose in his arms with this maxim of Poor Richard on his back: 'Not every goose has feathers on him.'"

"On the twentieth we reported to General Washington in Cambridge."

ON THE TWENTIETH WE REPORTED TO GENERAL WASHINGTON

This was the first time I saw him in the uniform of a general. He wore a blue coat with buff facings and buff underdress, a small sword, rich epauletts, a black cockade in his three-cornered hat, and a blue sash under his coat. His hair was done up in a queue. He was in boots and spurs. He received us politely, directing a young officer to go with us to the powder house. There we saw a large number of barrels.

"All full of sand," the officer whispered. "We keep 'em here to fool the enemy."

"Not far from the powder house I overheard this little dialogue between a captain and a private:

"Bill, go get a pail o' water," said the captain.

"I shan't do it. 'Tain't my turn," the private answered."

The men and officers were under many kinds of shelter in the big camp. There were tents and marquees and rude structures built of boards and roughly hewn timber, and of stone and turf and brick and brush. Some had doors and windows wrought out of withes knit together in the fashion of a basket. There were handsome young men whose thighs had never felt the touch of steel; elderly men in faded, moth-eaten uniforms and wigs.

This great body of men which had come to besiege Boston was able to shoot and dig. That is about all they knew of the art of war. Training had begun in earnest. The sergeants were working with squads; Generals Lee and Ward and Green and Putnam and Sullivan with companies and regiments from daylight to dark.

Jack was particularly interested in Putnam—a short, rugged, fat, white-haired farmer from Connecticut, of bluff manners and nasal twang and of great animation for one of his years—he was then fifty-seven. He was often seen flying about the camp on a horse. The young man had read of the heroic exploits of this veteran of the Indian wars.

Their mission finished, that evening Jack and Solomon called at General Washington's headquarters.

"General, Doctor Franklin told us to turn over the horses and wagons to you," said Solomon. "He didn't tell us what to do with ourselves 'cause 'twasn't necessary an' he knew it. We want to enlist."

"For what term?"

"Till the British are licked."

"You are the kind of men I need," said Washington. "I shall put you on scout duty. Mr. Irons will go into my regiment of sharpshooters with the rank of captain. You have told me of his training in Philadelphia."

So the two friends were enlisted and began service in the army of Washington.

A letter from Jack to his mother dated July 25, 1775, is full of the camp color:

"General Charles Lee is in command of my regiment," he writes. "He is a rough, slovenly old dog of a man who seems to bark at us on the training ground. He has two or three hunting dogs that live with him in his tent and 's'o a rare gift of profanity which is with him everywhere—save at headquarters."

"Today I saw these notices posted in camp:

"Punctual attendance on divine service is required of all not on actual duty."

"No burning of the pope allowed."

"Fifteen stripes for denying duty."

"Ten for getting drunk."

"Thirty-nine for stealing and desertion."

"Rogues are put in terror, lazy men are energized. The quarters are kept

HOT UNDER COLLAR IS PROBE SENATOR AFTER A SESSION

Senator Henry F. Ashurst of Arizona emerging from a session of the Daugherty investigating committee.

Senator Henry F. Ashurst admits that he gets hot under the collar literally as well as figuratively in the sessions of the senate jury hearing the testimony against Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney-general. This photograph was taken as he emerged from a "warm" session of the jury to cool his brow in chill winds whipping around the senate building.

clean, the food is well cooked and in plentiful supply, but the British over in town are said to be getting hungry."

Early in August a London letter was forwarded to Jack from Philadelphia. He was filled with new hope as he read these lines:

"Dearest Jack: I am sailing for Boston on one of the next troop ships to join my father. So when the war ends—God grant it may be soon—you will not have far to go to find me. Perhaps by Christmas time we may be together. Let us both pray for that. Meanwhile, I shall be happier for being nearer you and for doing what I can to heal the wounds made by this wretched war. I am going to be a nurse in a hospital. You see the truth is that since I met you, I like all men better, and I shall love to be trying to relieve their sufferings."

It was a long letter but above is as much of it as can claim admission to these pages.

"Who but she could write such a letter?" Jack asked himself, and then he held it to his lips a moment. It thrilled him to think that even then she was probably in Boston. In the tent where he and Solomon lived when they were both in camp, he found the scout. The night before Solomon had slept out. Now he had built a small fire in front of the tent and lain down on a blanket, having delivered his report at headquarters.

"Margaret is in Boston," said Jack as soon as he entered, and then standing in the firelight read the letter to his friend.

"That is a real, genuine, likely gal," said the scout.

"I wish there were some way of getting to her," the young man remarked.

"Might as well think o' goin' to h—l an' back ag'in," said Solomon. "Since Bunker Hill the British are like a lot o' hornets. I run onto one of 'em to-day. He fired at me an' didn't hit a thing but the air an' run like a scared rabbit. Could 'a' killed him easy but I kind o' enjoyed seein' him run. He were like chain lightning on a greased pole—you hear to me."

"If the general will let me, I'm going to try spy duty and see if I can get into town and out again," he proposed.

"You keep out o' that business," said Solomon. "They's too many that know ye over in town. The two Clarkes an' their friends an' Colonel Hare an' his friends, an' Cap. Preston, an' a hull passle. They know all 'bout ye. If you got snapped, they'd stan' ye ag'in a wall an' put ye out o' the way quick. It would be pie for the Clarkes, an' the ol' man Hare wouldn't spill no tears over it. Cap. Preston couldn't save ye, that's sartin. No, sir, I won't 'low it. They's plenty o' old cusses fer such work."

229 Year Road Ban Lifted

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON.—After a ban extending over 229 years taxicabs will now be allowed to use the roads in Hyde Park for getting to and from other parts of London.

The law which prohibited the use of roads in the park is dated 1695, and the terms of the notice read, "Several persons of quality were affronted by persons who rode in hackney carriages, wearing masks, etcetera. Complain thereof being made to the Lord Justices, an order was made that no hackney carriage be permitted to go into the said Hyde Park."

Concrete dikes for protecting oyster beds, are erected on the sea bottom when the tide is out.

Farmers' Column

Agent Hill reports an interesting experience that Leonard Morin of Frisco, one of his club boys, had a week or two ago in disposing of his seed corn. He had sold of what he had and brought eight bushels to Ada to find purchasers. It happened that two or three men were at the moment talking with Mr. Hill on this very subject. Inside of five minutes the young farmer had sold six bushels at $2.50 per bushel and within the next two or three days Mr. Hill had sold the other two bushels. It costs no more to raise good corn than inferior and several of these boys in different parts of the county are making good raising seed corn. Mr. Hill tells of two who beat their father so badly last year that he discarded the variety he had been raising and bought seed from the boys for this year.

Cream Grades

John W. Boehr, Dairy Extension Specialist

Cream grading has raised the standard of market cream in Oklahoma. For the second year the demonstrations on standardizing cream will be part of the home dairy work. To secure better markets, we must first take the initial step of producing high quality products.

First grade cream brings the highest price and must come up to the following standard: It must be sweet or mildly sour, clean, smooth, testing over 25 percent butter fat, free from lumps, tasting pleasantly and free from undesirable odors.

To secure first grade cream, thorough cleanliness of milker, cows, barn, utensils, separator and cooling tank is absolutely necessary. An easy way to clean utensils and separators is as follows: 1. Rinse with cool or lukewarm water to remove milk and loose dirt. 2. Scrub with brush dipped in warm water and washing powder, and rinse. 3. Scald thoroughly to kill germs.

In addition to cleanliness the cream must be kept cool. Fresh cream should be cooled first before it is added to the storage can in the cooling tank.

Finally, stir the cream daily and deliver at least twice a week in summer and once a week in winter.

Cotton Acreage

All the reports reaching this office indicate that there will be a large increase in the cotton acreage this year. We have received letters of inquiry from Kansas, Missouri and Illinois asking about cotton and cotton seed, indicating that the acreage in these states will be increased a hundred percent or more. According to B. F. Markland, county agent of Beaver county, even the plains country people who are not only farther north, but with much greater elevation are planning to plant cotton.

We note the following from his weekly report of March 8: "Monday, the Rock Island railroad held an all-day agricultural educational meeting. The principal subject discussed was the growing of cotton on the plains country. The farmers of this territory have signed up to plant about five thousand acres. The local people held a cotton meeting at Gaymans, Saturday, and have the promise of about one thousand acres to be planted to cotton."

If cotton can be grown profitably in these sections, we think it all right for them to make it another cash crop; however, we fear a greatly increased acreage of cotton over the entire cotton territory is likely to result in prices below cost of production. It would be much better to decrease the acres planted to cotton and by better cultural methods increase the yield per acre. It is better to grow one acre of cotton at a profit than to grow one hundred acres at cost or less than cost.—A. and M. Bulletin.

BIG HOTEL WILL ENCLOSE EXISTING BAPTIST CHURCH

NEW YORK, April 8.—A fifteen story hotel and church will soon be built around and over the old Calvary Baptist church on West Fifty-seventh street, while the congregation will continue to sit in their accustomed seats Sunday after Sunday. The contractors have announced that the wings which form the main part of the hotel and the roof can be brought into being without interfering with the use of the auditorium.

The magnificent auditorium of the present church will remain as it has been since the church was built over 70 years ago, but the present gallery will be enlarged and a second one constructed so that the seating capacity of the new church will be 4,000. Wings on either side of the present church, and 12 stories immediately above it will be built and leased for operation as a hotel for Christian people.

Cost of the improvements will be about $2,000,000, but it is expected that the hotel will turn in enough rental to the church to enable it to considerably widen its scope of activities.

England Seeks Cotton Fields

LONDON.—The intention of the government to foster cotton production in Kenya, Africa, has been indicated by Colonial Secretary J. H. Thomas in the house of Commons. All the evidence, he said, showed that cotton could be grown in Kenya far more extensively than it had been, and it is the kind of cotton that is particularly suitable to the Lancashire trade. "If we can grow cotton within the Empire," he said, "it is our obvious duty to do so."

Turks to Brand as Fit Men and Women Seeking Marriage

CONSTANTINOPLE.—Under the new marriage law enacted by the province of Constantinople, both men and women who wish to marry must submit to medical examination. They must then appear before a local magistrate and give proof of their identity. A seal is then placed on the arm of every applicant for matrimony by the magistrate.

Only such persons as are branded with this seal, which guarantees their identity, and provided with a medical certificate from a recognized physician, will be given consideration when they apply for a marriage license.

London Buses Decrease Taxicab

LONDON.—The ever increasing number of motorbuses in the streets of London is hitting the cab trade pretty hard. According to the Motor Cab Trade Protection Society, there was a decrease of 50 percent in the number of cab riders last year.

WHAT THEY SAY

Let me congratulate you upon your front page EDITORIAL appearing in the Sunday's issue of the NEWS, in which you say it is time to put a stop to reckless driving in this city, and the county, as well.

The city commissioners never passed a better law than the one requiring motorists to stop just before driving into Main street. If this law were observed by all drivers, there would hardly be an accident along this thoroughfare, and I take it is the duty of every citizen to help enforce this law. With the present police force, it is almost impossible to apprehend all, or even a small portion of the offenders; for it would take two or three extra policemen all the time to police this street. Every law-abiding citizen should report every one who drives into Main without stopping, and if this is done just for two weeks, this habit will be broken effectually. Here's hoping that C. P. will act, and will act with a kick that will stop this law violation.

Sincerely yours, THOMAS P. HOLT.

Editor News: I want to congratulate you for your stand in the matter of better enforcement of traffic regulations. When one man obeys them, stopping at signals, the other fellow knocks the back end out of his car, so there you are. And stopping and talking right on business corners or turn stiles and holding a conversation is very prevalent in Ada. We surely need relief and I know of no one that can give the relief you can. The voice of the News is heard by all the business people. Yours to serve, A. D. COON.

Pay Gravel

HUGH

Sorrel Horse led him into the lodge and dropped the flap, and said:

"The young white man will be very sick when you go back to him. He will be sick from eating too much meat. Two Knives Talking will stay by him to make him well. He cannot leave his sick brother to watch Shunclata break jugs on the open place outside the village. All the Ogalala will want to see the new medicine. While they watch, the white man will go among the bluffs and follow the pony trail south where they will find ponies hobbled and feeding. Two guns are there and a bundle of dried meat. Now will the white man pay?"

And he pointed to an array of jugs and several kettles filled with water.

Scissors picked up a jug and found it filled to within a few inches of the mouth. He examined the stopper to make sure it would exclude all air and then handed it to Sorrel Horse and told him to cork the jug and break it by striking the stopper with his fist. Sorrel Horse nervously followed instructions and was much cast down when nothing happened.

"It is because you have no medicine of your own," explained Scissors. "Now I will give you a medicine."

And he removed the stopper and pointed it to the earth, the sky and the four winds. Then with a mug he dipped water from a kettle and filled the jug to overflowing and gently inserted the end of the stopper until it stood upright.

"Now strike," he commanded. Sorrel Horse obeyed, and this time the hydraulic pressure rewarded his efforts and brought a glare of triumph to his eyes. His chest expanded and he softly boasted:

"They say he will have a new name. They say he can break jugs."

Scissors eyed him suspiciously and pulled forward another jug, only half full, and releasing the stopper curiously directed:

"Break that jug."

Sorrel Horse confidently struck the stopper and the jug remained intact. As the medicine man hung his head in bitter disappointment Scissors told him:

"I have taken the medicine away from you so you will know it is my medicine and will not work if I do not get away from the village. Now I will give the medicine back to you. Bring water and fill this broken jug."

As he spoke he fitted the two pieces together, the cleavage being clean, and held them in place while Sorrel Horse with trembling hands lifted a kettle and poured in the water. When the jug could hold no more Scissors revealed the climax of the medicine by teaching the medicine man how to work gently in inserting the stopper deep enough to remain in place and yet to prevent any air pressure on the mouth; only he said nothing about pressure, as the Indian would not have understood. Sorrel Horse simply understood the manipulation of the stopper was the wakan way of doing it. Had he been told to plug the jug while one hand was held high above his head his faith would have been as great and the mystery no more profound.

"Now lift it by the handle," said Scissors.

The hand of Sorrel Horse shook convulsively and he could scarcely grip his fingers about the handle. He was on the threshold of conquering the greatest mystery he had ever attempted. To have Tunkan break a jug in his hands had been astounding. But to be permitted by the stone god to break a jug and then fill it with water and then to break it a second time surpassed his wildest dreams of wizardry.

BUCHANAN WILL HEAD STATE UNIVERSITY

NORMAN, June 4.—J. S. Buchanan, who for the past year has been acting president of the University of Oklahoma, was elected president of the university to serve until September, 1924, shortly before adjournment of the board of regents at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening. Judge A. A. McDonald of Hugo was elected president of the board earlier in the day at the first meeting of the body since its reorganization by Governor Trapp. Frank Buttran of Oklahoma City was chosen vice-president of the board, and E. R. Kraettli, secretary of the university, secretary.

The board made public no action regarding salary schedules. In response to a pointblank question regarding action taken on salary questions, E. R. Kraettli, secretary declared that there was "No information to give out."

Of course the jug collapsed and the water escaped once the plug was removed. Scissors advised:

"Have the little water-girl help you hold the jug when you fill it. Be sure it stands on a level place. If a jug breaks in more than two pieces do not try to fill it. Such a jug is weak and does not please Tunkan. Two Knives Talking goes to look after his sick brother."

HAPPY HOUR CLUB ENTERTAINED

Misses Evelyn Brown and Marvina Brydia entertained the Happy Hour Club Monday at the home of Miss Brown on East Tenth. A pleasant afternoon was spent in playing bridge, Miss Chloe Smith making high score. Mrs. Lloyd King of Houston, Texas, and Miss Venna Parsons of Oklahoma City, substituted for absent members.

Music on the Victrola was furnished throughout the afternoon, and refreshments of grape ice, white cake, and purple and white mints were served at the close of the game.

Misses Mildred and Melva Bullock will be hostesses for the club next Monday afternoon at their home 1031 South Belmont.

PIANO RECITAL DELIGHTS AUDIENCE

The recital at the First Presbyterian church Tuesday evening, given by the pupils of Mrs. E. S. Winget, was a delight to everyone present. Little Reba Jane Chapman, 5-year-old prodigy, captivated the audience with her playing. Her memory work and manner show marked ability as a little musician.

Miss Dona Mae Boud received a silver medal upon finishing the two years course of the high school required course. Misses Thelma Harris and Mildred Harris received a framed picture of Mozart for work during the year.

Mrs. Winget has been an Ada teacher for several years, is untiring in her work and an inspiration to her class of students. A box of sweetpeas was presented Mrs. Winget by her pupils, Jackie and Ruth Coon as a token of esteem and appreciation for her efforts during the year.

WOMEN'S CLUBS REPORT RAPID MEMBERSHIP GAIN

LOS ANGELES, June 4.—In the last four years the General Federation of Women's Clubs has added to its rolls more than 3,000 new clubs, raising the list of member clubs from 2,000 to about 5,000 and the number of affiliated clubwomen to more than 1,000,000, the president, Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, of Minneapolis, reported at the opening business session of the federation's seventeenth biennial convention here today.

Besides the addition in memberships and affiliations, some of the outstanding accomplishments of the last four years, since the federation met in Des Moines, Ia., were outlined by Mrs. Winter as follows:

"The purchase and equipping of headquarters in Washington.

"The movement toward universal membership, made actual in 14 states.

"Junior membership organization and club institutes.

fiery. Even Sitting Bull, himself, could not do it.

"Every year, with our growth in numbers," added the president, "with our awakening and greater civic consciousness, the demands upon us grow. Possibilities loom up on us suddenly for great accomplishments, and if we hesitate or turn away, they seek other agencies and warmer hearts."

Paralleling certain changes and movements within the organization, Mrs. Winter explained, "must be added two very important developments for linking up the new and old and pouring fresh currents of life into our veins: first, insuring the continuity of our efforts by getting more and more young people into our organization, which resulted in creating the committee on junior membership; second, the equally important right about face in our attitude toward our jobs that has lifted them out of the amateur stage and made us realize that club work is not a catch-as-catch-can affair, nor to be administered by rule of thumb, but that we needed to school ourselves in the best ways of doing the work to make ourselves efficient. This meant the training school of the Club Institute."

The administration of Mrs. Winter served from 1920 to 1924. The new national officers, to be elected at the present convention, will fill a term of two years.

BIG BUILDING PROGRAM IS BEGUN BY A. AND M.

(By the Associated Press)

STILLWATER, Okla., June 3.—Oklahoma A. and M. college is embarking upon the largest building campaign in its history.

The program will add three new buildings to the college facilities, one of which will cost $125,000 and the others, $150,000 each. An athletic stadium, also will be built, to cost approximately $50,000 a section. The number of sections has not been determined.

A building to house the college animal husbandry department is nearly half completed. It will contain offices, class rooms and laboratories, and an arena for stock shows. Its cost is to be $125,000. Funds were appropriated by the Ninth legislature.

Steps are under way to provide two dormitories, one for men and the other for women students, under an enabling act passed at the special session of the Ninth legislature last winter. Bonds are to be issued, if the state attorney general approves, covering a total cost of $300,000 for the two buildings. These dormitories will be in addition to the three now at the college. The five will house approximately 1,000 students.

A stadium campaign which has been under way among students and faculty for more than a month, has netted $20,000 from students and is expected to bring $10,000 from the faculty and $20,000 from alumni. It has not been carried to the alumni as yet. It is planned to have the first section of the stadium ready for the football season next fall.

Plans for these buildings have been prepared by the department of architecture of the school of engineering of the college.

Since erection of the first state college building at A. and M. in 1890, there has been a steady increase in facilities at the college. There now are 18 major buildings on the campus, besides a large green house and several smaller buildings.

MANY MEDICINES HAD DISAPPOINTED EDWARDS

Topeka Man Suffered For 10 Years From Stomach Trouble And Only Found Relief When He Took Tanlac.

That DeForest Edwards, 1203 N. Kansas Ave., Topeka, Kans., is still enjoying the good health which he says "Tanlac brought me six years ago" is one of the strongest evidences of Tanlac's remarkable merit.

"What makes Tanlac seem so wonderful to me," said Mr. Edwards, "is the fact that it brought me complete relief from Stomach trouble of 10 or 12 years standing when everything else failed. The kind of indigestion I had before taking Tanlac caused terrible pains that would last for hours, taking nearly all my energy and strength away from me.

"So many medicines had disappointed me that I had very little faith in Tanlac. However, the first bottle helped me so much that I bought another, then another and so on until I used 6 or 7, and then my long standing stomach trouble was gone and I felt like a new man. "I don't need any medicine now, for I am in good shape, but if I should I would certainly take more Tanlac. It does the work and does it well."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

Oklahoma in unison with the Nation paused Memorial Day to pay its tribute to the dead of American wars. In every city and village in Oklahoma, Legionnaires and members of the auxiliary, together with the patriotic and civic societies led the state in paying homage to those who gave their lives in defense of their country or who died after returning from service with the colors.

In many cities, while the services were sponsored by the Legion, the veterans of '61 both the Union and Confederate soldiers, and the veterans of the Spanish-American war, united with the khaki-clad hosts of the Legion in this tribute to the fallen comrades of all wars.

Parades featured many of the Memorial Day services. After suitable religious and patriotic programs were held, in all cases, the graves of veterans were decorated and suitable honor salutes were fired.

The American Legion throughout the Nation has led in the patriotic movement to discourage the "celebration" of Memorial Day, calling attention to the fact that the day has been set apart by congress for the "observance" of honor to the deceased patriots of all wars.

The second annual business men's smoker sponsored by the Donaldson-Walker Post No. 108, Cushing, was held Thursday, May 29. A large number of business men were hosts to guests in addition to large delegations of visitors from neighboring posts.

State Commander Fowler was the principal speaker.

The annual Poppy sale of the Legion and Auxiliary held the week preceding Memorial Day, was an unqualified success, according to Bernard A. Kellner, Department Service officers. All former sales records were broken.

The entire proceeds from the sale of the Flanders flowers will be devoted to the care of the disabled veterans of Oklahoma.

Shawnee is one of the latest cities of Oklahoma to join the ranks of the Honor Flag communities. The Bernard Gill Post No. 16 has recently completed the sale of more than 200 large American flags to the merchants of Shawnee who will soon install the uniform and patriotic system of flag decoration.

The annual Alfalfa county legion picnic, honoring all Service men, their wives and members of the legion Auxiliary, was held at Carmen, Wednesday, June 4. The delegates to the district Auxiliary convention in session at Carmen were special honor guests of the affair.

Gold tournaments, tennis tournaments, horseshoe and croquet contests, swimming matches, boating and baseball featured the entertainment program. A basket dinner was given at noon.

Mrs. J. P. Barrett, state president of the Legion Auxiliary was among the honor guests the Auxiliary convention.

By proclamation of the Mayor "Clean-up Day" was recently celebrated at Fairview when the city was placed in charge of the American Legion post and "martial law" hung over the city from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m.

Flags flew from every business house; all available trucks and wagons were called into use, and with the help of the school children, civic clubs and business men, Fairview was soon declared to be a "spotless town."

All members of the Legion were in uniform, and promptly arrested all "slackers" to the clean-up program, and placed them in a bullpen erected in the center of the business district.

SOUTH SEA FLAPPERS FLAP MORE THAN OURS

The modern American flapper is a tame sister compared to the South Sea island girl of the same persuasion, according to members of R. A. Walsh's Goldwyn company which made "Lost and Found," showing at the American Theatre today, on the island of Tahiti.

If you wonder how the flapper Americans can dance all night, between cocktails and cigarettes, and then get up in the morning for a game of golf, you would be amazed at the hardihood for jazz which the dusky and seductive Polynesian maidens show, said House Peters, Antonio Moreno, George Siegmann and Director Walsh upon their return from the island.

"It's dance, dance, dance from morning till night," exclaimed the volatile Tony Moreno, with an expression registering that he could not hold the pace. And Tony is athletic, too.

The equatorial flapper isn't keen on ballroom dancing as we know it, but she can turn loose a tornado and a sirocco when it comes to the hula. The spirit of fun runs riot in her blood and she is not bound by the conventions of clothing. It must not be gathered, however, that the fair maidens flaunt their charms to the gaping public. On the contrary, one member asserts that the American and South Sea flappers may be sisters under the skin, but the latter brand displays less of the cuticle than the former.

A big town is a place where a polite traffic cop may be charged with conduct unbecoming an officer.

Some Features of New Revenue Law

WASHINGTON, June 2.—The new revenue law scales down federal taxes to the lowest level since the start of the war.

Individual income taxpayers are given the greater relief, although most of the remaining war excise taxes either are wiped off the statutes or reduced.

At the same time the law creates two new taxes—on gifts and mah jong sets—and increases the rates on estates and playing cards.

Likewise the administrative provisions are revised to plug in the old law for tax revisions and andr old law for tax evasions and considerable additional revenue is expected as a result.

The net reduction which it is estimated the bill will make in government revenue next fiscal year, beginning July 1, is $361,000,000, but the full effect of the tax relief afforded will not be shown in government receipts until the following year, when it is estimated the net reduction will amount to more than $400,000,000.

Changes ordered in the excise rates go into effect after 30 days. The provision for a 25 percent reduction on income taxes payable this year is effective immediately, while the cuts made in the individual income taxes are effective as of January 1, this year on taxes which are payable next year.

The following changes are ordered in the income tax: A 25 percent reduction on taxes payable this year.

General revision of both the normal and surtax rates, amounting to a fifty percent cut on taxes levied against incomes of $8,000 and under.

An additional reduction of 25 percent which may be made on earned incomes. For the purposes of this reduction all incomes of $5,000 and under are defined as earned. The cut may be made on incomes up to $10,000.

Exemptions for heads of families with incomes of $5,000 and over is increased from $2,000 to $2,500, the same as now allowed heads of families with incomes of $5,000 and under. No change is made in the present law allowing an exemption of $1,000 for single persons.

The miscellaneous and excise taxes repealed and the amount of revenue involved are:

Telegraph and telephone messages $34,000,000; beverages $10,000,000; candy $13,000,000; knives, dirks, daggers, etc. $20,000; liveries, etc. $140,000; hunting, shooting and riding garments, $18,000; watches and motorboats for sale $319,000; carpets, rugs, trunks, purses, etc. $1,800,000; drafts and promissory notes $2,150,000; theaters, shows, circuses (floor space) $1,600,000.

In addition, numerous other excise taxes are reduced. Theater tickets of 50 cents and under are exempted; automobile trucks, the chassis of which sell for $1,000 or less and the bodies for $300 or less are exempted from the 3 percent; while 5 percent levy on automobile tires, parts and accessories is cut in half.

Articles selling for $30 or less and watches selling for $60 or less are exempted from the 5 percent jewelry tax, as are also surgical and musical instruments, eye glasses, spectacles, silver plated flatware, and articles used for religious purposes. The tax of 2 cents on each $100 sale on produce exchanges is cut in half.

The tax on playing cards was increased from 8 to 19 cents a pack.

The same rates of amounts to which the estate tax is applied in the present law are retained but the rates are increased so that the maximum is 40 percent on amounts of $10,000,000 and over instead of 25 percent. It is estimated this increase will bring in $12,000,000 additional revenue annually.

The new gift tax imposed, its authors said, merely as a compliment to the estate tax and to check evasions of the latter, carries the same rates as the revised estate tax. It allows an exemption of $50,000. Also numerous other exemptions would be allowed including gifts to public purposes and charitable, educational and religious organizations. The tax will be levied on the donor and against the total amount of the gifts during the year. This tax goes into effect as of last January 1. The rate would start at 1 percent on gifts not in excess of $50,000. It is estimated this tax will bring in $2,000,000 revenue annually.

The new tax on mah jong sets is 10 percent and it is estimated this will result in collection of about $2,000,000 annually altho accurate statistics are not available for such a calculation.

The new normal tax rates on individual incomes are 2 percent on incomes of $4,000 and under; 4 percent on incomes between $4,000 and $8,000 and 6 percent on incomes above that amount. The surtax rates range from 1 percent on incomes between $10,000 and $14,000 to 40 percent on incomes over $50,000.

NEW YORK.—Gov. Alfred E. Smith is now assured of a first ballot strength of more than 300 votes in the Democratic National Convention, it was said yesterday by persons interested in his candidacy. This prediction was based on reports received from all over the country. It was considered to indicate a marked increase in strength on the part of the Governor, as the first calculations of those who are managing his campaign for the Democratic nomination for President, called for only about 200 votes for him on the first ballot.

NEW YORK.—Gov. Alfred E. Smith is now assured of a first ballot strength of more than 300 votes in the Democratic National Convention, it was said yesterday by persons interested in his candidacy. This prediction was based on reports received from all over the country. It was considered to indicate a marked increase in strength on the part of the Governor, as the first calculations of those who are managing his campaign for the Democratic nomination for President, called for only about 200 votes for him on the first ballot.

The increase in what was called the "open" strength of the Governor, as distinguished from his so-called "hidden" strength which will not be revealed until later in the convention, was said to have come about through confirmation of the reports that he would have at least seven-eighths of the delegates from New England and an increase in the number of his supporters in the Pennsylvania delegation.

Difficulties Bob Up in Program For Adjournment

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, June 4.—Congress, with adjournment set for 7 p. m. Saturday, suffered from acute executive congestion.

The senate side was the more affected of the two, one group headed by Senator Underwood, Democrat, Alabama, being determined to get a vote on the Muscle Shoals question, and another led by Senator LaFollette, Republican insurgent, Wisconsin, being on record as opposing any action not designed for the relief of agriculture.

The house was not without its troubles but it appeared to be in a much easier situation than the senate. Its chief tasks centered about farm relief and the reclamation bill reported yesterday by the irrigation committee and embodying recommendation made by the interior department's fact-finding commission.

Buster in the Lion's Den
Buster Keaton is going in for the more serious things in life. He is training to become a lion tamer.

During the filming of "Sherlock Jr.," Buster's latest Metro picture, at the McSwain theatre today, seven of the most monstrous lions available were taken to the Keaton studio. For four days their roars could be heard for blocks. Neighbors complained that they could not sleep. The roaring increased when Joe Mitchell, famous scenarist and gag man, forgot to feed them for 36 hours.

On top of all this, Buster entered the cage with a revolver in one hand and a "starting iron" with cruel prongs in the other. He advanced cautiously and frowned at the most ferocious of all the lions. It was too much for the beast and without warning he emitted a thunderous roar that almost made Buster jump out of his skin. Keaton didn't wait to excuse himself, but made a hasty exit by squeezing through the iron bars.

"That ain't the way out!" yelled an excited stage hand.
"Never mind," replied Buster, "when those lions get peeved I make my own doors."

GORE WILL ANNOUNCE POSITION SHORTLY

WASHINGTON, June 4.—It will be a week or two before former Senator Thomas P. Gore determines whether he will run for the senate this year from Oklahoma. He is staying in Washington confidently expecting a final decree of the United States supreme court in the Red river state boundary case next Monday when the court will adjourn until October.

It has been made clear by the court that it is the intention to terminate the case before the summer adjournment, and Gore has clients so deeply interested in the final decree that he does not feel justified in leaving here before it is handed down. It is his intention, announced Tuesday, to leave Washington Tuesday of next week for

Oklahoma; to confer with his friends here and to make formal announcement while in the state as to whether he will make the race for the nomination or not.

WASHINGTON—A compromise farm relief bill was drawn up today at a conference of members of the farm bloc in both the house and senate which it was indicated had the endorsement of the White House.

Modeled on the lines of McNary-Haugen bill, it would empower the war finance corporation to purchase "exportable surplus" of wheat and meat products, sell these abroad and meet the loss, if any from the corporation's present surplus of $161,000,000.

The new bill will carry the "ratio price section" of the McNary-Haugen measure which would be invoked to determine when the corporation should enter the market. It is to be introduced in the house promptly, it was stated.

Leland Haworth.

The day when the "dumbbell" was carried on a college athletic team is passed, college officials will tell you. And Indiana University heads point to Leland Haworth as the new type of athletic star. While playing third on the Indiana baseball team and shining in tennis, Haworth found time to win 49 credit points in his studies last semester, a record three times the average earned by the men students.

The highway department would be relieved of considerable expense and a lot of worry if automobile owners were as particular in displaying this year's license tags as they are displaying spring bonnets. —Vinita Journal.

COLLEGE NOTES

An event of interest to the student body was the "mixer" on the College Campus, Tuesday evening. A good old fashioned as well as modern handshaking took place, each person introducing himself. In this way the faculty and students of East Central in the past, hope to make the new students feel that they are to be congratulated on being members of such a student body, faculty and institution. Twelve of the students were awarded prizes for their skill in the art of handshaking. Music was a main feature throughout the evening. Lorene Neal, Katherine Stone, Urby Mallory, Vay Duncan, Fleeta Bell Chadd Jala Gwin, Frances McKinley, Ruth Burton and Ethel James Byrd are to be highly complimented for their skill in aesthetic dancing as was shown last evening. Most of these accomplished young ladies owe their art to the conscientious effort on the part of Miss Anna Weaver Jones, director of physical education, East Central State Teachers College.

The student body was given a chance to show their appreciation for the faculty and school in singing, led by Mr. Fentem and Miss Jones.

The evening did not lack in refreshments, cream was served several times around, everyone reported a good time and left hoping that this will not be the last of such entertainments.

John W. Zimmerman a graduate of E. C. and who for one year was a member of the local high school faculty one year director of correspondence of the Teachers college and for the past year was principal of the junior high school and a most successful debate coach, left for Nashville, Tenn., where he will do graduate work through the summer months at Peabody college. Mr. Zimmerman is a man East Central is more than proud of and rightly so.

The common question asked by all Ada in one accord is "What is the enrollment?" The exact figures will be given later, but this much satisfaction has been allowed the student body, and might be said here "confidentially," that Dr. Lincheid says "we have more than does Durant or Edmond."

Mr. H. G. Faust, superintendent of the public schools of Shawnee is a member of the summer faculty, teaching mental and educational measurements, psychology of the exceptional child and process of teaching.

This is not his first stay in Ada, he gave a series of lectures last summer, he says he is always glad to come to Ada, and that it is to be congratulated on being the home of the greatest school in the state. He is favorably impressed with the student body as a whole and the large number of exceptionally strong personalities.

One of the features of the mixer of the East Central State Teachers College Tuesday evening on the college campus was the ice cream, furnished by Roy Givens, president of the Chamber of Commerce and manager of the Southern Ice & Utilities Co.

President Lincheid explained that this very generous gift added much to the enjoyment of the occasion and he wants it known that the faculty and students of the college appreciate the favor.

The mixer was attended by about two thousand students and one hundred members of the faculty. It is an annual affair, being one of the features of the summer term each year.

OKLAHOMA COTTON GROWERS ELECT OFFICERS

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 5.—(Special.) H. E. Warlick of Brinkman was elected president of the Oklahoma Cotton Growers association at the first meeting of the newly elected board of directors held at the association's headquarters here; A. F. Duke of Terral was elected vice president; C. L. Stealey of Oklahoma City, secretary and general manager and R. D. Wilbor of Oklahoma City treasurer.

Warlick and Duke have been directors in this association since its organization three years ago.

Stealey was secretary of the organization committee and directed the work of signing up the required minimum membership. He was elected secretary-treasurer of the association when it was incorporated in April 1921, being later made general manager, which position he has occupied for the past three years.

Wilbor was recently made treasurer of the association in order to relieve the general manager of the duties of that office. He was for a number of years in the banking business at Hugo.

Farmers' Column
—By—
Byron Norrell

Hog shipments have held up well during the five months of the current year. The Farmers Union exchange reports having shipped 32 cars since the first of the year, or about a car and a half a week. The returns brought the shippers from $1,100 to $1,250 per car. Last year the Exchange shipped 78 cars. Of course others also shipped some so it will be seen that considerable money has been brought in from this source, although the low price of hogs and high price of feed is a combination that cuts profits.

World's Pig Production.

Numbers of swine in the principal producing countries of the world are estimated at 227,431,000 head by the Department of Agriculture, compared with 263,844,000 head for a representative pre-war year. This is a decrease of 36,413,000 head or 14 percent. The United States shows the largest increase in production. There were 63,424,000 hogs on farms on January 1, 1923, compared with 58,933,000 hogs on farms on January 1, 1914. Smaller increases are indicated for Argentina and Canada. The number of swine in most of the European countries was less in the recent estimates than during the prewar period, the department states. Some of the countries showing decreases in numbers are France, Germany and Denmark.

Some Garden Recipes.

Martha McPheeters, Nutrition Specialist

Beet and Cabbage Salad

1 pint of chopped, cooked beets
3 or 4 T. grated horseradish
1 pt. chopped cabbage

Mix thoroughly. Make a dressing of 1-2 cup of vinegar, 1 teaspoon of salt, 4 tablespoons of sugar, pepper. Pour over salad and let stand twenty or thirty minutes. The horseradish may be omitted and nuts or hard cooked eggs used instead.

Lettuce With Cottage Cheese Dressing.

Add cottage cheese or cream cheese cut into small cubes to salad dressing and serve on lettuce.

Cabbage and Green Pepper Salad.

Shredded cabbage with chopped onion and chopped green sweet peppers. Using dressing suggested for beet and cabbage salad.

Tomato Salad

No. 1. Peel, cut in eighths, not cutting through the bottom, so when laid upon lettuce leaf or on a plate the sections will fall apart at the top and be held together at the bottom. Fill center with a spoonful of salad dressing of the above cabbage and pepper mixture. Whole canned tomatoes with salad dressing make a good winter salad.

No. 2. Arrange sliced tomatoes on lettuce leaves or beds of shredded lettuce and serve with salad dressing. Small cottage cheese balls arranged on the sliced tomatoes makes an attractive, as well as palatable, salad.

Cabbage and Apple Salad

Use equal parts of shredded cabbage and diced apples. Mix with salad dressing. Tart apples are best.

Carrot Salad

2 c. ground raw carrots
1 c. chopped nuts
Mix with cooked salad dressing. Use enough of dressing to make mixture moist. Grind carrots in food chopper or chop very finely.

Salad Dressing

5 T. butter
3 T. flour
1 c. sweet milk
1 c. vinegar
Yolk of 6 or whole of 3 eggs.
1 t. salt
1 t. mustard
1-4 t. paprika
1-2 c. sugar

Make a white sauce of the flour, butter and milk. Add sugar and mustard to the egg yolk, beat. Add gradually to the white sauce, beating vigorously all the time to keep the mixture smooth. Then add the vinegar gradually. beat. Whipped cream may be added when the dressing is to be used.

Cotton Spacing Tests.

STILLWATER, Okla.—How far apart should cotton be planted in the row?

To determine the answer the experiment station at Stillwater is conducting 100 tests in various parts of Oklahoma, in co-operation with county agricultural agents and farmers, according to announcement by Prof. Adrian Daane, of the agronomy department.

"By next fall we should know something definite about spacing cotton on different soils and under different climatic conditions, as there always is a wide range of such conditions when considering the state as a whole," Professor Daane says.

"In China, cotton is sown broad cast. In some places in the United States it is spaced four feet between hills.

"Recent experiments show that close spacing causes early maturing and increases yields. Both results are desirable under boll weevil conditions.

"The tests have been outlined as follows:

"Plot No. 1—not thinned (left just as planted); No. 2—hills spaced 6 inches apart; No. 3—9 inches apart; No. 4—12 inches; No. 5—18 inches; No. 6—24 inches; No. 7—30 inches.

"The cotton is left in the hills just as chopped, with one, two or three stalks to the hill. This experiment can be used in the regular field of cotton, preferably with rows ending next to the highway, so that stakes can be put up to show the nature of the experiment. Four rows are ideal for a plot. The rows need not be longer than 100 yards. At harvest time each plot should be weighed separately."

IMPROVED PASTURES BY MOWING. BRIGGS SAYS

STILLWATER, Okla., June 4.—(Special.)—Pastures can be improved by mowing at this season of the year, says Glen Briggs, of the agronomy department of Oklahoma A. and M. College.

"Many farmers are beginning to realize the importance of good pastures and many inquiries have come to the agronomy department relative to methods of improving pastures," Briggs says.

"Many persons believe they have a good pasture when it looks green and there are no conspicuously tall weeds. As a matter of fact, a great many pastures are full of small, short weeds seen only upon close examination.

"It is surprising how well livestock will thrive when the animals do not have to take so much time in selecting the food plants from the injurious.

"It has been found that plants have a stage in their growth when they can be killed easier than at other times. This period generally is when the plant is in the flower stage. At this time of year, many injurious plants can be killed by one mowing. Another mowing in the summer will get the later weeds.

"The sickle of the mower does not need to be run close to the ground, but may have the points of the guards raised to pass readily over any obstacle. Pastures may be mowed when it is too wet to work in the field.

"The late Dr. Seaman A. Knap (father of President Bradford Knapp of Oklahoma A. and M. college) a noted agriculturist, said: "A deficiency of grass in the pasture is such a sin against common sense that nature refuses a substitute."

London's Chinatown Vanishing.
(By the Associated Press)

LONDON—Chinatown, or that part of the east end of London long the haunt of Orientals and known only to the majority of Brit- ishers through the eye of the novelist, is rapidly vanishing through the activity of the police.

Magistrate J. A. R. Cairns recently spoke in this regard as follows: "Chinatown, so far as its old associations and vices are concerned, will very soon have passed away. As to its romance, there isn't any left; there is nothing now but dirt and squalor.

"In clearing the place of its drug-traffickers the police have done a fine piece of work. Quietly, but very thoroughly, they have gradually eliminated the master-minds of the 'dope' gangs, and those who worked under them are now unable to carry on their terrible trade."
